Hello and greeting from the Upper East Tennessee Celtic Society.

We are celebrating our 26th Annual East Tennessee Celtic Festival.

First of all, we are under new management so to say. We have an incredible new board whose goal is to not only uphold the mission of the UETCS but revamp and keep things fresh, new and exciting. We have quite a few events planned throughout the year that you may be interested in vending at.

Next, our venue has changed. We have moved everything to the beautiful Tipton Haynes Historic Site in Johnson City, Tennessee. This area is growing with a population of over 300,000. Its diversity allows everyone no matter how old or young something to do and enjoy. What better place to host our event than at Tipton Haynes Historic site. They have 11 original historic buildings sitting on over 49 acres. It is a beautiful site full of history. Please visit their webpage at www.tipton-haynes.org. You can also check out the slide show on our Facebook page.

Last, we have changed our large festival back to a two day event. I felt the need to specify on this because for those who have vended with us before are used to two days. We are very excited for all the festivities we have planned for 2018. However, do not fret, we have many events where you may sell your wares. I have included these dates in a list below any special specifications for each event.

Please keep in mind that space is limited and you must first be approved by our board. We also ask for our festivals and Tartan Day that your wares be predominantly (75%) Celtic in nature (our visitors expect this). The only exception to this rule is food vendors, but they must still be approved by the board. We ask that you review prices and dates carefully. All prices are for the average 10X10 space, larger spaces are available for added cost. If you need a bigger space let us know in interest form. If you are interested in vending at an event, please respond with attached form my mail or email by date specified for each event for consideration. Include your company name, a description of your wares (pictures would be great), and the best way to contact you. You will receive a response along with a vendor registration form by the end of the month. Also note that all fees are nonrefundable.

Food vendor prices are the same.
